

Grand Jury May Investigate Oil and Gas Prices

By JOHN CHADWICK

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. O'Mahoney (D-Wash.) and Magnuson (D-Wash.) said today they welcome a forthcoming federal grand jury investigation of recent increases in oil and gasoline prices.

"I am very glad the Justice Department is taking up the story," said O'Mahoney. "The increase in prices has not been satisfactorily explained."

Magnuson said in a separate interview the grand jury investigation would be "very helpful."

O'Mahoney is chairman of a joint Senate antimonopoly-public lands subcommittee which has been looking into the emergency oil-for-Europe program, inaugurated after the closing of the Suez Canal cut off Europe from most of its Middle East oil sources.

The joint subcommittee also is probing recent widespread price boosts—75 cents a barrel for crude oil and one cent a gallon for gasoline and fuel oil. Magnuson heads the Senate commerce subcommittee which has set up a subcommittee to conduct a separate study of gas-oil price increases.

Yesterday, in nearby Alexandria, Va., attorneys from the Justice Department's antitrust division asked Federal District Judge Albert V. Bryan to order a grand jury investigation of companies and individuals engaged in "the production, refining and sale of oil."

Judge Bryan authorized the inquiry and directed that a grand jury be convened March 1. Justice Department officials said it was decided to take up the matter in Alexandria, just across the Potomac River from the capital, because the federal court docket is not as crowded there.

Assistant Atty. Gen. Victor R. Hansen, in charge of the antitrust division, said that while the government has no power to control oil prices, it is concerned with the possibility of a concerted action within the industry to raise prices.

O'Mahoney said he thought it was a "fair inference" that the department did not regard the antitrust exemption granted to oil companies cooperating in the European supply program, as extending to any domestic price fixing.

No Authority in Bus Desegregation

LITTLE ROCK (AP, S. A.M.)—Osro Cobb told the Little Rock National Association today that thus far he lacks federal authority to move against segregation in Arkansas bus and train waiting rooms.

Cobb's position was that any federal action to eliminate segregated waiting rooms will necessitate authority from Washington.

He confirmed today he received a letter late last month from the Rev. J. C. Crenshaw, president of the Little Rock NAACP chapter protesting continued segregation in bus and train stations in the state.

The U. S. attorney also said he had a conference with Crenshaw and offered to include the matter among those discussed the next time he visits the Justice Department in Washington.

Rotarians Hear of Chick Industry

John Randolph, General Manager of Corn Belt Hatcheries spoke Friday to the Hope Rotary Club on the chicken industry in Southwest Arkansas.

Mr. Randolph pointed out the volume of 20,000,000 hens would produce a good living for about 10,000 families in this area, in addition to other jobs relative to the industry.

Visiting Rotarians: Cecil Watson, Garyakana, Ark. Guests: Luis H. Moreno, Panama City, Panama.

Charles E. Stewart, Norfolk, Virginia. New Rotarian: F. A. Brewer of the Hope Basket Co.

Women sometimes get so silly they talk about bridge as much as their husbands talk about golf.

"BE IT EVER SO HUMBLE..."—Joseph Porcos, 48, poses in the wooden box that has been his "home" for the past two years. Police had been called to investigate an abandoned safe in the junk-littered yard of a Chicago apartment house and cheerful, clean-shaven Porcos strolled in. When questioned, he told the cops he lived in the wooden box. Porcos does odd jobs around the city. Says he likes his odd dwelling—it's tiny, it's cold, but it's home!

Saud and Ike in Agreement on Middle East

By WARREN ROGERS JR.

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower and King Saud, reportedly in full agreement on Middle East problems they talked over, held their final meeting today.

Their White House conference was expected to bring forth a communique summing up results of their talks during the last 10 days.

Eisenhower then flies to a Georgia vacation and Saud prepares to leave tomorrow for Spain.

American and Arab officials indicated beforehand the Eisenhower-Saud "communique" would cover these key points:

1. Extension of the agreement under which the U. S. Air Force uses to Duhairan air base, possibly for five years.
2. Increased U. S. military aid. Saudi Arabia wants to double its 15,000-man force and modernize it with bigger tanks and jet planes.
3. Assurance of U. S. economic aid for development projects.
4. An indication that Saudi Arabia will cooperate with Eisenhower's proposed military-economic program for blocking Communist expansion in the Middle East.
5. Possibly, an expression of hope that the ship-clogged Suez Canal will be reopened soon. Saudi Arabia is feeling the pinch of the canal closure on its 300 million dollar a year oil royalties.

Saud buys his guns, tanks and planes from the United States now. He is understood to have assured Eisenhower he wants to get free U. S. weapons without having to sign a treaty which would put American technicians in control of such weapons.

Saud's deputy foreign minister Yusuf Yasin was emphatic in telling reporters last night: "We have agreed on everything we have discussed."

Yasin made this statement as he emerged from final detailed negotiations with Secretary of State Dulles at the State Department.

Saud's 34-year-old son, Prince Mashhur, meanwhile, woke up today richer by nearly three dozen green-top presents. Among them: a green toy tractor he can ride, gift of Eisenhower's grandson David.

The prince received the gifts at a Saudi Arabian Embassy party yesterday attended by 32 children of Arab diplomats and their American friends. It celebrated his release from the hospital.

Mashhur was outfitted Walter Reed Army Hospital with a leg brace to help correct the crippling effects of cerebral palsy.

U. S. Acts to Halt Stream Pollution

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government acted today to halt discharge of oil well wastes in Arkansas which allegedly pollute north Louisiana streams.

Secretary of Welfare Folsom announced he had forwarded to five oil well operators recommendations of a special hearing board set up under provisions of the Water Pollution Control Act.

The board recommended that the operators within 90 days stop discharging oil well wastes into Corney Creek drainage system in north Louisiana.

Hearings in the case were held at Homer, La., Jan. 17-17. Folsom's announcement gave this background:

He served three terms as a Republican in the state's dominant Democratic General Assembly and was a former grand high priest and deputy grand master of Arkansas Masons. He officiated at more than 240 masonic funerals.

Survivors include his wife, 4 sons, 3 daughters, 8 grandchildren and 9 great-grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held Sunday at Marshall.

Says Oilmen May Show Price Increase Need

By JOHN CHADWICK

WASHINGTON (AP) Sen. Barrett (R-Wyo.) said today oil industry spokesmen may be able to "make a showing" for price increases wholly aside from effects of the Suez Canal closing.

Some members of Congress and others have accused the oil industry of stepped-up demands for oil to be shipped to Europe. There have been suggestions for government action if the oil firms don't roll back their prices.

But Barrett told a newsman he wanted to hear the industry's side before reaching a conclusion.

He is participating in a Joint Senate Antimonopoly Public Lands subcommittee inquiry into recent fuel oil and gasoline price boosts, and operation of the emergency oil-for-Europe program sponsored by the government.

He said testimony yet to be presented might show that rising costs, unrelated to the Suez crisis, justified a hike in oil prices have been boosted 35 cents a barrel and gasoline a cent a gallon.

In the House yesterday, Rep. Ikard (D-Tenn.) said the crude oil price increase was "necessitated and justified by spiraling costs," mainly for steel and labor.

The Senate investigation, under the chairmanship of Sen. O'Mahoney (D-Wyo.), is in recess until Tuesday, when spokesmen for the independent petroleum producers will testify.

Meanwhile, plans for a separate investigation by a five-member Senate Commerce subcommittee were announced by Sen. Magnuson (D-Wash.), chairman of the full committee. Sen. Pastore (D-R.I.) will head the probe, due to start shortly.

At yesterday's hearing before the joint subcommittees, Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn.) took government officials to task on grounds they did not seek to prevent price increases last fall in negotiating with major American oil companies for the emergency oil lift to Europe.

Read at the hearing were minutes of a meeting here last Sept. 19 of the Middle East Emergency Committee. This record showed the oil companies predicted that closing of the Suez Canal would exert "serious upward pressure" on petroleum prices.

Kefauver said Arthur S. Flemming, outgoing defense mobilization chief; Asst. Secretary of the Interior Felix E. Wornser; and other government officials sat in on the meeting but did not try to keep prices down. They said they had no authority to do so.

Royal Rift Between Liz And Phillip

LONDON (AP) London newspapers didn't say a word today about rumors printed in the United States of a rift between Queen Elizabeth II and her husband. They also ignored an official Buckingham Palace statement terming the rumors "quite untrue."

For two years and more rumors have been whispered in some London circles of discord in the royal household. None of the talk has been supported by tangible evidence.

"London-dated story in the Baltimore Sun yesterday said cafe society folk were 'talking openly of a rift' between the 31-year-old Queen and her handsome, 35-year-old consort. It said the gossip was now 'percolating down to the British masses.'"

In queries brought a quick denial from Cmdr. Richard Colville, press secretary at the palace.

"It is quite untrue that there is any rift between the Queen and the Duke of Edinburgh," he said.

The duke now is nearing the end of a four-month, round-the-world tour on the royal yacht Britannia. The royal couple are to be reunited next weekend in Lisbon at the start of an official visit to Portugal.

Death Comes to Indian Chief at 90

By JOE DEMIC

YSLETA, Tex. (AP)—Aniceto Granillo, cacique, chief, of the Tigua Indians, died in the far country of the Great Spirit today.

Death came with Tuesday morning's sun for the aged chief, near 90.

Over his body an honor guard kept watch.

Then to the great mission his people helped build nearly three centuries ago the old chief was borne. In Requiem Mass the tribe of the Tigua prayed.

The hour was one for solemn remembrance.

For this church, which since the year 1683 has sheltered the Tigua people, is the third home they have known.

The Tiguas had been the first of the tribes to embrace Christianity in the land beyond Paso del Norte. When the Spaniards came in 1580, they found this civilized people tilling the earth beside the great river and holding a belief in immorality and one god.

When he wild tribes of the mountains and nomads of the plains descended on the peaceful settlements a century later, the Tiguas and priests and Gov. Antonio de Otermino fled southward from Isleta Pueblo, south of present-day Albuquerque, N. M.

In this new and quiet place beneath Franklin Mountain the tribe halted and built the mission of Corpus Christi de la Ysleta del Sur.

Provisions of New Income Tax Measure

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The new state tax law is a tax increase that is not a tax increase.

The bill, signed into law yesterday by Gov. Orval Faubus, revises exemptions without actually raising the tax. The result is that more people—persons who previously were not required to file state income tax returns now are covered by the law.

The previous law required that single persons making less than $2,500 a year and married persons earning less than $3,500 a year were not required to file a state income tax return.

Now all persons will figure their tax. Then they will take the exemptions out of their tax.

The new exemption system calls for these deductions: from the tax of a single person, $17.50; instead of $2,500 from total income, from the tax of a married person, $35 instead of $3,500 from total income.

For each dependent other than husband or wife, persons credit themselves with $6 from their tax figure. Instead of exemption $400 from total income as previously figured.

Arkansians will be affected by the law for the first time when they file their 1957 returns early next year.

Ford Experiment Due to End Soon

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Arkansas Experiment in Teacher Education, initiated five years ago with Ford Foundation funds, probably will be sufficient to guarantee continued operation of the experiment.

Dr. Guy A. Curry, president of the Arkansas Experiment in Teacher Education, told representatives of 16 Arkansas colleges that increased revenue from tax sources probably will be sufficient to guarantee continued operation of the experiment.

Financial support from the Fund for the Advancement of Education, a division of the Ford Foundation, will end this year.

Basically the experiment sets up a new program for teacher education. Teacher candidates would take four years of liberal arts, then spend the fifth year in the teaching field. On completion they would receive a master's degree.

Reporter to Decide Reply to State Dept.

BUDAPEST (AP)—An American reporter, who recently visited Red China, expected to decide today about his response to a Washington move to force his immediate return to the United States.

William Worthing, 35, correspondent of the Baltimore Afro-American, was one of three newsmen who went to Communist China a despite a State Department ban on travel there.

He came to Budapest from Moscow and said the U. S. legation here promptly asked him to turn over his passport so it could be marked "Valid only for return to the United States."

Worthing kept the passport in his possession and said U. S. Vice Consul Richard R. Shelby Jr. suggested four possible courses of action: hand over the passport; hand it over with a written protest; ask for a hearing either in Budapest or in Washington; or refuse to have anything to do with the U. S. legation in Budapest.

Worthing said Shelby told him instructions had been received from Washington to take the passport action.

The newsmen said he might ask for a hearing here. There is no American attorney in Budapest to advise him, however, and it was considered doubtful that Hungarian authorities would let him remain long enough for a hearing to be held.

The passport expires March 4. Worthing had been planning to return to the United States soon in any case. He also works part time for the New York Post and has made broadcasts for CBS.

He said he was surprised when he called at the U. S. legation here to find a letter from New York Post Editor James Wechsler was marked "Opened in error by E. T. Wallis." Wallis, a former assistant secretary of state now is U. S. minister in Budapest.

Worthing said the registered letter contained a certified check for $200.

The other two American newsmen who went to Communist China are correspondent Edmund Stevens and photographer Philip Harrington, both of Look magazine. Stevens now is in Moscow after returning from Red China.

Look spokesmen in New York said the China has asked the State Department for an open hearing on the government's move to revoke Stevens' passport. Harrington has returned to New York but no action has been taken against him.

Russia Calls for Meet of Ministers

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—A Soviet proposal for foreign ministers instead of lower-level delegates to hold the next round of U. N. disarmament talks today awaited official replies from the United States, Britain, Canada and France.

Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Vyassily V. Kuznetsov transmitted to proposal in letters to the U. N. delegation heads of the other four countries. With Russia they make up the U. N. subcommittee on disarmament.

There was no immediate reaction from the four Western governments.

Soviet Prime Minister Bulganin proposed last Nov. 17 that the government heads of Britain, France, India, the Soviet Union and the United States meet on disarmament. President Eisenhower replied that disarmament talks should be kept within the framework of the United Nations.

One Western source noted that the new proposal would combine Bulganin's idea of high-level negotiations and Eisenhower's idea of U. N. talks.

But another observed that it would take the subject away from the experts that know it best—including U. S. presidential assistant Harold E. Stassen and French negotiator Jules Moch.

Since 1941 Living Cost Is Up 74%

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—Where's all this inflation President Eisenhower is worried about?

It's gone up 3.6 per cent. That's only the latest boost in the long rise. Between January 1941 and January 1957 living costs have climbed 74 per cent.

Eisenhower this week warned vaguely the government may have to act to control prices and wages if inflation doesn't stop. But anything his administration will do seems far off.

Only yesterday Secretary of Commerce W. A. Reuther, a member of Eisenhower's Cabinet, said he has no plans or studies for the government to step in. Making it just a little harder to borrow money from banks is about the only control used now.

Here are some figures showing where living costs have gone up, the debt people get themselves into, and what has happened to wages and profits in Eisenhower's first four years in the White House.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics is the government agency which gathers figures on living costs and wages. It breaks living costs down into categories of spending. In those four years:

The only item showing a drop was food—down two tenths of 1 per cent.

12.8 per cent; clothing—2.3; housing, which includes the purchase price of new homes, repairs and maintenance—6.1; rent—108; transportation, which includes the price of new and used cars, repairs on them, and fares on buses, trolleys and trains—2.9.

Others which went up: reading and recreation, which includes motion picture theater prices, the prices on TV and radio sets and newspapers—1.4 per cent; personal care, which includes toilet articles, and prices in beauty and barber shops—8.4; and other goods and services, which includes tobacco, alcohol, legal services, and so on—6.4 per cent.

Here are increases and decreases in some of the items in these categories:

New cars went up in price 4.3 per cent; used cars went down 21.8; repairs on autos—up 13.6; fares on buses, trolleys, trains—up 18.5 per cent.

Hospital rates rose 23.7 per cent; doctors' fees—11.6; the price on new radio sets dropped 12.1 per cent; on new TV sets it dropped 10.6 per cent.

Some other figures, obtained from other agencies, showed personal income in Eisenhower's first four years rose from $237,400,000,000 after taxes to $288,200,000,000.

But people didn't depend entirely on the increase in their income to buy more things. They went into debt to buy things they could not pay cash for. And this was the result: consumer credit jumped up from $19,433,000,000 to $31,552,000,000.

They were the people went into debt is almost startling: auto loans rose from $7,733,000,000 to $14,436,000,000 or almost double in four years. That was the biggest single jump in the credit department although personal loans took a leap also—up from $4,111,000,000 to $7,184,000,000.

In addition to this particular kind of credit debt, there was another which was amazing: home mortgages in those four years went up from $6½ billion dollars to $9 billion.

Wages in the same period also advanced. Average weekly earnings for workers in the manufacture

Administration Hopes to Avoid Showdown

By JOHN HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Eisenhower administration clinging today to a hope that Israel can be persuaded to pull its troops out of territory captured from Egypt last fall.

This would avoid a showdown over sanctions both here and at the United Nations.

American insistence on an Israeli withdrawal from the Gaza Strip and from the region around the Gulf of Aqaba is believed to have been emphasized to Israel's ambassador Ebba Eban, who met last night with Deputy Under Secretary of State Robert Murphy.

After conferring with Murphy for more than an hour at the State Department, Eban described the talk as "an exchange of views" on the increasingly tense situation.

Diplomatic sources said Eban stressed Israel's determination to hold out for "a pledge of full abstention" by Egypt from any further hostilities against Israel before Israeli troops are withdrawn.

These informants also said that if and when its troops are removed from the Gaza Strip the Israeli government wants its civilian administrators to remain there.

President Eisenhower is under stood to have made at least one personal appeal to the Israeli government within the past week, and a more urgent request to Israeli Prime Minister David Ben-Gurion seems to be a strong possibility.

In Jerusalem, Israeli sources speculated last night that Ben-Gurion is politely rejecting Eisenhower's plea for an Israeli withdrawal from Egypt. A Foreign Ministry spokesman said, however, that the contents of a Ben-Gurion message to Eisenhower would not be made public until after it is delivered.

Eisenhower told his news conference earlier this week he believes Israel will comply with U. N. demand and remove its forces from areas it conquered from Egypt.

According to present U. N. plans, troops on the U. N. police force now in the Sinai Peninsula would move into Gaza and the Aqaba region after military units of Israel had gone.

The United States contends this would give some assurance to Israel against further use of the Gaza Strip as a base for Egyptian commando forays, and a so would meet for a time Israel's desire to keep the Gulf of Aqaba open to navigation of its ships. Both of these are key points in Israel's stand on troop withdrawal.

But the Israelis want commitments which would bind Egypt to a long term course of action. All sides recognize that the presence of U. N. forces in the disputed areas would be temporary, and whatever assurance the Israelis would gain from the presence of these forces would be limited in time. The American view is that the time involved would be sufficient to permit further negotiation and a government has been pressing the Israelis for weeks to pull out unconditionally.

House Defeats a Divorce Measure

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Arkansas House today passed a once-defeated bill which opponents declared would make the state a haven for seekers of "quickie" divorces.

Proponents of the measure said it merely would clarify resident requirements under Arkansas' 60-day divorce law.

Today's vote was 62-20 for the bill and 73-11 for adoption of the emergency clause to make it effective immediately on signing by the governor.

Rep. Charles Roseoff of Phillips County opposed the measure. He told the House, "This is the same bill you turned down yesterday afternoon and you should leave it that way. I want out to know what you are doing before you pass it."

Rep. Jim Conates Jr. of Pulaski County also spoke in opposition, saying it would "definitely weaken the divorce laws."

Those favoring the bill apparently were assured before the roll was called that they had enough votes for passage.

They made no real effort to plug the measure but Rep. Paul Van Dusen of Perry County said, "This is Rip Smith's personal bill and I think we should pass it to show our confidence in him."

The reference was to Sen. Charles F. Smith of West Memphis, who was speaker of the 1955 House.

Rep. James S. Yarbrough of Sebastian County supported Van Dusen, saying, "I never knew Rip Smith could introduce a bad bill and would like to see everybody vote for this one."

The bill originated in the Senate and was passed there without a dissenting vote.

Rep. William S. Andrews of Ouachita County called the bill up for reconsideration.

School Sets Up 'Teenage Code'

CEDAR GROVE, N. J. (AP)—Seventh and eighth graders at the grammar school here have proposed a "code of teenage behavior" in hopes of avoiding "obvious supervision" by parents.

The code bans duncarees, except on gym dates, ends dances by 10:30 p. m. and advises teenagers to avoid single dating.

The youngsters also agreed to limit phone calls to a "reasonable" 15 to 20 minutes, return at an agreed time from dates and sleep 10 hours a night if they are seventh graders, 9½ hours if in the eighth grade.

'Friendly Persuasion,' Hailed as Screen Triumph, Scheduled For Local Opening

"Friendly Persuasion," William Wyler's motion picture that has been acclaimed by critics and preview audiences as a masterpiece to be ranked with the classics, opens Sunday at the Starlight Theatre with Gary Cooper, Dorothy McGuire and Marjorie Main starred.

Seldom has a motion picture reached the screen with such favorable advance criticism and such universal predictions of artistic and boxoffice success. Even while "Friendly Persuasion" was still before the color cameras for Allied Artists, the word was out around Hollywood that it would be one of the great pictures of the past few years.

Reaction at a series of special previews held in major cities throughout the country substantiated this advance report as the preview cards overwhelmingly voted the film "Excellent" in all respects.

Wyler, two-time winner of the Academy Award and one of Hollywood's most distinguished film makers, has said that "Friendly Persuasion" is "my best picture in 10 years."

Sees Change in Soviet Attitude

BONN, Germany (AP)—Chancellor Konrad Adenauer predicted today the Soviet attitude toward the West will change soon as a result of economic troubles and recent developments in Hungary and Poland.

Adenauer spoke at a news conference soon after receiving a top-secret message from Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin. The Chancellor declined to discuss any details of the message, saying by and Russian Ambassador Andrei Adenauer — "Delivered and agreed to keep it confidential. The two are to talk further about it."

Bulganin's message could deal with German unification, economic relations, or disarmament. Adenauer's Government affing a new note to Moscow designed to promote direct German-Russian negotiations on the problem of divided Germany.

Adenauer appealed to the West to "avoid anything that might be considered as a provocation by the Soviet Union." He added that "we must under no circumstances disturb the developing change in international policy."

Identify Mexicans Killed on Highway

NEWPORT (AP)—Authorities today identified two of three Mexicans killed in a highway accident here last week.

Coroner Otis Dillingier said they were identified through fingerprints as Jose Martinez-Manso, 25, of Tamaulipas, Jalisco, Mexico, and Herlinda Cabarrubas-Rivera, 21, of Coahuila, Mexico. The other victim of the crash has not been identified, Dillingier said.

The coroner said Martinez-Manso was deported from Portland, Ore., in 1936 on an immigration violation.

The three were killed Jan. 30 when their automobile skidded on an icy bridge on U. S. Highway 67 about five miles south of here.

Two Reservoir Jobs Are Rejected

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Budget Bureau official has recommended the rejection of authorization for the Gilbert and Lone Rock reservoirs in Arkansas.

Assistant Budget Director Robert E. Merriam made the recommendation yesterday to the Senate Public Works Committee, which is holding hearings on a 1½-billion-dollar omnibus water control bill. An almost identical measure was vetoed last year by President Eisenhower.

Budget Bureau spokesmen said Army Engineer reports are lacking on Millwood Reservoir in Arkansas and Oklahoma.

The bureau had suggested earlier that more local contributions should be required for the Bouff and Tensas River projects in Arkansas.

On Monday evening Circle 3 of the Women of the Presbyterian Church held a supper meeting in the home of Mrs. Robbie Wilson and Mrs. John, William Davis.

DOROTHY DIX

'Social Mess' Needs a New Perspective

Dear Dorothy Dix: I am 17 years old, and a social mess! I've never gone out with a boy, but would like to get someone interested in me. I'm a student nurse, so don't have much chance to meet fellows my own age. I don't even get along well with other girls. My roommate gives me a hard time, since she is high-spirited. She likes a crowd, and plays rock 'n' roll records, whereas I dislike both. She has many visitors who take delight in teasing me by hiding my things, messing up the bed, and silly things like that. Please help me.

M.S.: You need a different perspective on your problem, plus a new attitude on life. You have many advantages in environment and associates, which you regard as liabilities. Look at them in a new light. Take your lively roommate for instance. Instead of griping about her company and choice of music, learn to be part of the one and to tolerate the other. You want to make friends? Well, here's a steady stream of people right at your front door. Perhaps one of them will turn out to be the companion you want. Take your teasing with good humor.

Then think of all the nice young men you meet every day. There are doctors, interns, patients, office personnel, and visitors. Be pleasant to all, cultivate an especially friendly smile and, I assure you, you won't go unnoticed.

Good looks alone are not an open sesame to popularity, nor is lack of them a lifetime sentence to isolation and loneliness. Plain girls marry, too. Admittedly, they must try harder to win friends, but they make lasting friendships — and lasting marriages. Get rid of any notion that the world is against you because you lack glamour. Work for a good disposition and stop thinking of yourself as a "social mess."

Dear Dorothy Dix: When my boy friend comes to see me, he pays more attention to my mother and younger brother than he does to me.

CRICKET: He knows he has your approval; now he's working on the rest of the family. Don't object!

Dear Dorothy Dix: My husband and I have been married a little over a year. Last month he told me he had been seeing another girl. He said there was nothing to it; he had been discouraged and she gave him helpful advice. I know I haven't been too understanding with many of our problems, and

'Friendly Persuasion,' Hailed
as Screen Triumph,
Scheduled For Local Opening

"Friendly Persuasion," William Wyler's motion picture that has been acclaimed by critics and preview audiences as a masterpiece, is being ranked with the classics, opens Sunday at the Sanger theater with Gary Cooper, Dorothy McGuire and Marjorie Main.

Seldom has a motion picture reached the screen with such favorable advance criticism and such universal predictions of artistic and boxoffice success. Even while "Friendly Persuasion" was still before the color cameras for Allied Artists, the word was out around Hollywood that it would be one of the great pictures of the past few years.

Reaction at a series of special previews held in major cities throughout the country substantiated this advance report—as the preview cards overwhelmingly voted the film "Excellent" in all respects.

Wyler, two-time winner of the Academy Award and one of Hollywood's most distinguished film makers, has said that "Friendly Persuasion" is "my best picture in 10 years."

The picture, which is a masterful blend of high comedy, breathtaking action and intense drama.

Identify Mexicans
Killed on Highway

NEWPORT (AP)—Authorities today identified two of three Mexicans killed in a highway accident here last week.

Coroner Ottilie Dillinger said they were identified through fingerprints as Jose Martinez-Manso, 25, of Tamaulipas, Jalisco, Mexico, and Herlinda Cabarrubas-Rivera, 21, of Coahuila, Mexico. The other victim of the crash has not been identified, Dillinger said.

The coroner said Martinez-Manso was deported from Portland, Ore., in 1956 on an immigration violation.

The three were killed Jan. 30 when their automobile skidded on an icy bridge on U. S. Highway 67 about five miles south of here.

Two Reservoir Jobs

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Budget Bureau official has recommended the rejection of authorization for the Gilbert and Lone Rock reservoirs in Arkansas.

Budget Bureau spokesmen said Army engineering reports are lacking on Millwood Reservoir in Arkansas and Oklahoma.

The bureau had suggested earlier that more local contributions should be required for the Bouff and Tensas River projects in Arkansas.

'Social Mess' Needs
a New Perspective

Dear Dorothy Dix: I am 17 years old, and a social mess! I've never gone out with a boy, but would like to get someone interested in me. I'm a student nurse, so don't have much chance to meet fellows my own age. I don't even get along well with other girls. My roommate gives me a hard time, since she is high-spirited. She likes a crowd, and plays rock 'n' roll records, whereas I dislike both. She has many visitors who take delight in teasing me by hiding my things, messing up the bed, and silly things like that. Please help me, M.S.

Dear Martha: If you realize that your own lack of understanding was partly responsible, that constant nagging never mended anything, and that you must learn to bear and forbear, you can have a happy marriage. Leaving your husband would be the coward's way out. Do your share to make your husband happy, your home peaceful, and you'll get co-operation.

Dear M.S.: You need a different perspective on your problem, plus a new attitude on life. You have many advantages in environment and associates, which you regard as liabilities. Look at them in a new light. Take your lively roommate for instance. Instead of grilling about her company and choice of music, learn to be part of the one and to tolerate the other. You want to make friends? Well, here's a steady stream of people right at your front door. Perhaps one of them will turn out to be the companion you want. Take your teasing with good humor.

Then think of all the nice young men you meet every day. There are doctors, internes, patients, office personnel, and visitors. Be pleasant to all, cultivate an especially friendly smile, and I assure you, you won't go unnoticed.

Good looks alone are not an open sesame to popularity, nor is lack of them a lifetime sentence to isolation and loneliness. Plain girls marry, too. Admittedly, they must try harder to win friends, but they make lasting friendships — and lasting marriages. Get rid of any notion that the world is against you because you lack glamour. Work for a good disposition and stop thinking of yourself as a "social mess."

Dear Dorothy Dix: When my boy friend comes to see me, he pays more attention to my mother and younger brother than he does to me.

Dear Cricket: He's a diplomat! He knows he has your approval; now he's working on the rest of the family. Don't object!

Dear Dorothy Dix: My husband and I have been married a little over a year. Last month he told me he had been seeing another girl. He said there was nothing to it; he had been discouraged and she gave him helpful advice. I know I haven't been too understanding with many of our problems, and

BUFFALO GRASS

THE STORY: Cass Simcoe of Texas is not too well pleased when she learns that Chad Morgan is engaged to Helen Jagger, sister of Joe Jagger, Morgan's partner. Chad takes Cass to meet Helen.

XII
Morgan came into the hotel shortly after six, looked into the office behind the desk and saw it deserted. He crossed to the dining room door to see if Helen were eating and was surprised to see Cass Simcoe seated at a table by herself. She was still wearing Helen's dress.

Morgan went to her. She sprang up as she saw him approaching.
"Mr. Morgan!"
"Chad," he smiled. He looked over his shoulder toward the door.
"Is your father coming down to supper?"

"He's gone out with the boys.
Said he wouldn't feel right sleeping in a bed when they're out there.
He made me stay here. 'I'm scared.'"

"Of what?"
"I don't know how to eat with all these forks and knives and spoons. We ain't — we haven't had anything at home for so long, ever since the war." For an instant her face looked as if she was going to burst into tears, but then she made a quick recovery.

"I'm hungry—that's the only reason I came down."
"Then let's eat!"
He stepped around, pulled out her chair to help her. She gave him a quick, stunned look, then seated herself.

Morgan and Cass were halfway through their meal when Helen Jagger appeared in the doorway.
She saw Morgan and Cass Simcoe at a table. A sudden look of pique crossed her face, but she erased
it quickly and came forward.

Morgan was already on his feet,
drawing up a chair. "Sit down,
Helen."

She shook her head. "No. I can't right now. Joe wants me to go over something with him." She started to turn away, then stopped. "That dress becomes you, my dear."

"Thank you," said Cass in a strange, choked tone.
Helen gave her a bright smile and walked off. Morgan looked after her.

"She's mad," said Cass.

Withers was a gaunt, beetle-browed man from East Texas, who would not be going back to his home territory. He had killed a man there.

He was standing beside Tom Alder and the press of players and more left parole terms.

Warden Graham, who returned from Washington, D. C., 12 hours after the riot ended, was asked if he planned action against the inmates.

"I will have to talk to the governor first," he said. "He evidently made certain commitments."

A few hours after the prisoners returned to their cells the Utah Board of Corrections, a committee of legislators and others appointed by the Governor began separate investigations.

Faubus Favors Slow Setup in Assessments

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov. Orval Faubus today gave his approval to what he called "a progressive program" that would set up a stair-step penalty system for counties in the property re-assessment program.

A proposed bill mentioned by the governor at his news conference today would penalize counties in 1958 that have not reassessed property at 14 per cent of market value. In 1959 counties would be penalized like they have not assessed at 10 per cent.
In 1960 at 10 per cent and in 1961
at 20 per cent.

The re-assessment program,
established by the 1955 Legislature, directed that counties that have not re-assessed property at 18 per cent of market value by 1958 would be deprived of part of their normal state turnback money.

Faubus said he was opposed to postponing the deadline for re-assessments he would support legislation that would ease the impact on counties and permit them to equalize property assessments "in a progressive form."

The governor said he believed 45 or 48 of Arkansas' 75 counties are "doing something" about reassessment. About 30 counties have done nothing at all, he said.

Sen. Clifton Wade of Fayetteville said he felt any revision in the re-assessment law would, in effect, penalize counties that accomplished re-assessment more quickly.

Gov. Faubus answered that these counties "have simply helped themselves." He pointed out that the money stays in the county to be used for county and city governments and for schools.

When he explained that the rainmaker he referred to was the
"God almighty," Rep. Joe Curry,<
